

Each 250x250-meter pixel represents the number of co-occurring human stressors. Colors are ramped so that red indicates high cumulative impact and blue as low cumulative impact.

Draft map prepared by Benjamin S. Halpern and Carrie V. Kappel, National Center for Ecological Analysis and Synthesis, University of California, Santa Barbara.